

FOOTBALL WORK

Coaches Hold No Scrimmage for First Eleven at University.

Signal Practice.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Charlottesville, Va., October 14.—The midsummer heat which prevailed today prevented Virginia's varsity football eleven from engaging in a scrimmage, though a half-dozen coaches were on hand ready to watch the men in action. Billy Glath, one of the best centers ever at Virginia, joined the coaching squad and devoted his time to the guards and center men. Charlie Bennett looked after the tackles while Head Coach Elliott and Dr. Madrus drilled the ends.

Bennett and Glath expressed themselves as very favorably impressed with several of the candidates, mentioning especially Malden, Farrow and Brown. The giant Farrow is coming fast and it looks now as if he might land a berth on the varsity. Malden is absorbing the finer points of the game and will no doubt be a feature at tackle. Green, from the Episcopal High School, is exhibiting knowledge of the sport and is using his 160 pounds to good advantage. While the quartet of coaches mentioned above was giving individual attention to the regulars Dr. Neff and Rice Warren had charge of the two scrub teams in a scrimmage that lasted over a half-hour. The battle resulted in a draw, neither side being able to score. The work of the men on the defensive was of a high order, the backs generally being thrown for a loss. Neither goal was seriously threatened. Coleman, a likely candidate for half back, was slightly injured, being accidentally kicked on the head.

In the long signal practice in which the varsity engaged Captain Todd was played at half back, his old position. His place at quarter back was taken by Randolph, who has been displaying a lot of ginger in the past fortnight. Just what is the exact significance of this change is not known. Blanchard, the big Colgate lineman, and Goch, last year's quarter, were both absent from practice today and will probably be out of the line-up for some time, due to additional injuries received. In yesterday's lively scrimmage Blanchard hurt his shoulder and knee. Goch now has two bum ankles.

Lanes, of the first string, was back in togs to-day and should be heard from from now on. Virginia has three games ahead in the next ten days—Hampden-Sydney on Saturday, South Carolina on Monday and Virginia Military Institute the following Saturday. The list of crimples at Virginia in the largest in recent years at this stage of the season, since the varsity has met no teams of consequence.

The new coaches in this week deplore the fact that the eleven has such a poor schedule. Virginia should have some games with teams in her class, they say. The eleven will go up against Vanderbilt and Georgetown without having had a real test of strength.

Dehann-Parrell.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Charlottesville, Va., October 14.—A pretty home wedding took place in Charlottesville on Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Ellen Parrell, when her daughter, Miss Rose Magdalen, became the bride of Benjamin Theodore Dehann, of this place. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles B. Deane, of Portsmouth. Miss Sophie Parrell, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and William Dehann, brother of the groom, best man. Mr. and Mrs. Dehann left on the night boat for Johns River and will be at home in the Hunt mansion, Charlottesville, after October 15.

Manager of Red Sox presented with White star by admiring fans of Boston. Mayor Fitzgerald is seen making presentation speech before thousands of fans.

COBB THINKS SOX TOO CONSERVATIVE

In the first inning on Speaker's drive, which he knocked down with his gloved hand and just recovered in time to retire Tris at first. But the real star play of the day, which I have mentioned before, was the catch of Dwyer of Cadiz, with the game in the balance, and the little right fielder saluting it for the Giants. Boston has shown no high class pitching where both Mathewson and Marquand have upset the Red Sox attack and our pep-eyed support put either in trouble.

Tommy to Cobb to decide. It's an even fight with the greatest scramble in all world series history. Thirty-four thousand, the greatest crowd in Boston's history, saw today's battle, and the general verdict was nothing short of seven games would decide the issue.

Summed up, if New York's defense can settle, the Giants have the edge with Teasdale, Mathewson and Marquand left to work in turn. The Red Sox have only Joe Wood, Walter Collins and O'Brien show for more stuff than they have shown to date. If the Giants continue crashing, they have no show, whatever their pitching and batting. But if they can stick their throbbing team into the sun-baked sod and stick to earth with a clamp on their nerves, Mathewson's three big guns should pitch New York to victory. Get set for the hurriance to-day when over 40,000 will see Teasdale, the mammoth, and Wood, the marvel, hook up for their second duel. The "grand old dope" has disappeared up the trail. There's nothing left but two ball clubs throwing all science to winds and fighting blindly, madly, savagely, reeling on, with shattered nerves, to the championship of the world.

ARRANGE DATE FOR AUTO MEET

To ascertain the possibility of securing some of the famous automobile drivers for the proposed automobile race to be held here early next month, the secretary of the Richmond Automobile Race Association went to New York last night. He will confer with Starter Wagner, who is in close touch with the dare-devils of the race course, and will lay before him the plan for the Richmond meet. It is believed that the chances are good for attracting to Richmond several experts, as the purse and prize will be worth contesting for. The date of the meet will be decided upon as soon as it is learned what drivers can be secured, and the dates they will be free to come here.

CHILD AWAKENED BY DOG.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Cutpeper, Va., October 14.—A fine bird dog, owned by Wade H. Newton, telegraph operator at the black station at Decatur, this county, suddenly attacked Mr. Newton's little six-year-old son, Harold, last Sunday while the child was romping with him. The child was badly bitten, and the father killed the dog and had his head shipped to the Postur Institute at Baltimore. The institute wired Mr. Newton this morning that the examination showed the dog had rabies, whereas Mr. Newton caused the child to be at once sent to the hospital, and as a further precaution had his other child, who previously had been playing with the dog, also taken to the institute.

SECOND MISTRIAL IN EAMES CASE

Jury Is Discharged After Being Out Six and a Half Hours.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Daavilla, Va., October 14.—After being out six hours and a half it was announced at 6 o'clock this evening by the foreman of jury which is trying Sam Eames, white, for the murder of Charles McNeely at Martinsville, that the jury had not been able to agree, and being hopelessly divided did not expect to be able to reach a verdict. The jury was thereupon discharged, and Eames will be tried for the third time at the next term of court.

On the afternoon of February 13 Eames killed McNeely by shooting him twice in the back, both bullets striking a vital spot. Both men had been drinking at the home of a man named Fortin Wyatt, and after leaving his home they began to dispute in the road which ended fatally.

McNeely limped for a day and then died. At the last term of the Henry Circuit Court Eames was tried, but a mistrial resulted, and the case was again taken up. It being said that the Commonwealth had presented some important new evidence. The case began on Monday last and went to the jury at 11:30 to-day. G. L. Gravelly and J. W. Carter appeared for the defense, while Commonwealth's Attorney Joe Taylor and J. M. Hooper presented the evidence.

SEVEN MEN GAVE BUILDINGS.

Five Men Out at Midnight High School.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Alexandria, Va., October 14.—Five broke out this afternoon on the third floor of the Episcopal High School in the room of G. C. Shackelford, a teacher at that institution. The timely discovery of the blaze by Mary Whitehead Reed, seven years old, saved the building from probable destruction. The students marched from the building and formed themselves into a bucket brigade, containing the fire to two rooms. The fire was also slightly damaged. The loss will not exceed $500.

Five pounds apprentice allowance claimed.

STILL A QUESTION

comfortably, have grabbed the lead from Teaville and have rammed it unbulled into the very jaws of the heralded baseball gladiators.

They tied one game and snatched another on the very crest of Boston Hill, while the minutemen were waiting and the taunts being hurled must have been a soothing, quivering, monotonous beverage for "The McGraws."

After which and by token of what it might be well to remark that the greater-of-all-things—that-be-made the red-headed brigade an under favorite either flunked on the day or else belongs to the family—never mind that it begins with "A" and ends with the serpentine member of the alphabetical family.

When two clubs are evenly matched, as nearly evenly matched as it is humanly possible to match them, neither is an odds-on favorite. Right now the score stands even—even in more ways than one. Each club, the Red Sox and the Glants, has won a game. Both featured in a hair-raising, heart-racking eleven-inning tie. The Glants have a slight edge on their Bostonian friends. Definitely these same Bostonian friends have an edge on the Glants.

In other words, they stand now just where they did at the beginning, except that both teams have had an opportunity to size up and gauge the playing strength of each. Practically all of the fingers of both teams have had a chance to show. Wood, Teasdale, and will have another chance to-day, so it is predicted, to do the same thing. Mathewson held Matt Collins and Bedient to a tie. Marquand won over O'Brien, with the same team, helping out in the closing chapter. There you are.

In the three games played the Glants and Red Sox have scored exactly the same number of runs, eleven. The Glants have made twenty-six hits, against Boston's twenty-three, a margin so slight that it is well-nigh negligible. Despite the fact that definitely the Glants have shown a better in the love, they are still tied with their less wobbly friends. Does this show that Boston is a legitimate contender on favorite?

Indeed, the Glants, definitely, at least, have not played up to form. Moreover, the most likely possibility to have been the one to make openings for defeat. But, all this, it is not reasonable to suppose that should the Glants reach their true strength defensively and continue the strength they have shown so far, that they will win.

Again, Boston at home on two consecutive days was unable to stop Gray and his men. Once they started to a tie, and on the second the Glants went which given the New Yorks the bulge to this extent that the odds were to be played off on their favor. Health, maybe a trifling advantage, but an advantage nevertheless, and all followers of the game are bound to admit.

Even though Boston should eventually prove the champion, it will not prove that the Glants' shirlings were justified to be the favorites which were of the betting before the contest. The Glants from now on will be close. The Glants are going to count, and it may be that the better team will not win.

It's an even bet now, as it has been all along. Toss a coin, and on the toss you can gauge the winner, as sure as you can on all of the horse-dope published. We are not predicting. Even though reasoning that we can miss by but one, we prefer not to be in the "I-told-you-so" class, just as much as we prefer not being put in the "We-told-you-so" department. While favoring the Glants it is probably sentiment which leads us to this conclusion. Like the rest of the "fans," we will wait and watch, and after it is all over, after the game, when has been securely grabbed and the money which goes with it squarely divided, then, and not until then, will we about the name of the victor.

KIDNAP IN FORESHORE.

Refuge to Summer Red Fish When

Anger for Game.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Norfolk, Va., October 14.—Negroes had possession of Lafayette Park this afternoon, and the football game scheduled to be played by Hampton and Henry High schools was to be postponed. The Negroes came over with a bunch of rocks, and the police had to use force to get them out of the park. A hasty report that the park had been reserved for "warmed" and "freedom" game. It was settled a receipt for the result, and other Negroes came forth to back up the contention for possession. There was nothing left but for the Hampton team to follow to return home without playing the game. There was talk of arresting some of the Hampton players, but it was agreed that the game should be played in Hampton on October 22.

The Norfolk message claiming to have some trouble getting the park to be played until the eleventh hour, to be played in possession.
